about kimberley

Specializing in personal development books and thoughtful children's books is the mission of Kimberley Eley's company, KWE Publishing. As a writing coach and publishing consultant, Kim gives clients six steps to make their books a reality.

Stories! Kimberley's passion for speaking comes from her desire to inspire, educate, and entertain. By enabling others to find the confidence to change their story, she empowers them to share their words and change the world.

Kim is happily married to her BFF and has been for over 20 years. She's a speaker; an author; a resident of Prince George, Virginia; a cat lover; a collector of orchids; and she gets all of her news from comedy channels.
